Individual agreements concluded with the customer take precedence over these T&C. Conflicting terms and conditions of the customer are not recognized.

Safety and Precautions

Expert Team: Every member of our team undergoes a thorough recruitment and training process, including up-to-date criminal record checks, to ensure that your child is in capable and caring hands.

Safe Environments: We are committed to creating safe environments for all our activities. Our team conducts rigorous risk assessments to prevent accidents. While we take every precaution, parents should be aware that some activities may involve items that could potentially cause minor injuries, such as sharp objects, diluted chemicals, flammable materials, dry ice, and other hazards.

Accident Preparedness: Despite our best efforts, accidents can happen. In such cases, we have a well-defined policy in place. This includes accident reporting, clear communication with parents, first aid administration, and, if necessary, the involvement of emergency services.

Chemical Safety: We follow strict regulatory guidelines for the safe dilution and use of chemicals in our experiments. Our team takes every possible step to minimize risks. We conduct thorough clean-up after experiments and use table protectors to prevent contamination. We also remind children to wash their hands after handling experiments and Take-Home-Experiments, like slime. Please note that we do not take responsibility for the consumption of Take-Home-Experiments.

Take-Home-Experiments: Our Take-Home-Experiments contain ingredients or small parts that should not be consumed. Parents, please ensure that these items are kept out of the reach of young children and pets. Ginkgo-Educa is not liable for incidents related to these take-home-experiments.

Promoting Positive Behaviour

Age and Independence: Children are typically welcome to join our activities from the age of 4 years old, provided they are out of diapers during daytime.

Punctuality Matters: We kindly request that you ensure your child arrives on time for the class. Timely attendance helps maintain the flow of the class and ensures everyone can fully enjoy the experience.

Respectful Conduct: We expect all children to treat their fellow participants and the Ginkgo-Educa space with kindness and respect. Our goal is to create a safe and inclusive environment for everyone to learn and grow.

Positive Participation: While we encourage active engagement, any student who consistently disrupts a class may be asked to withdraw from Ginkgo-Educa. This action would only be taken if all attempts to resolve the issue, including discussions with the student's parents or guardians, have not resulted in a satisfactory solution.

If Ginkgo-Educa must cancel a party due to unforeseen circumstances such as educator emergencies, extreme weather, governmental restrictions (e.g., COVID-related measures), or force majeure events, customers will receive a full refund. This applies when we cannot provide a suitable alternative within government guidelines. We also offer the option to reschedule the party for a later date at no additional cost, if desired.

If a child's age does not align with the specified age range for the event, Ginkgo-Educa may request adult supervision for that child, with full responsibility. If the entire group does not meet the age requirement, Ginkgo-Educa reserves the right to cancel the booking without a refund.

If you grant permission for your child to go home alone, please inform your child's teacher. Your child's safety is our top priority, and clear communication helps us ensure their well-being.
